

THANK YOU PROJECT

During this time of unprecedented "Social Distancing" many of us are fortunate to be spending most of our time at home, working and learning, but there are members of our community who are continuing to work tirelessly each day in the field to ensure our safety and well-being.

Community Helpers play an essential role on our island and can be found in many forms. They are doctors, nurses, hospital employees, police officers, firefighters, EMTs, First Responders, grocery store associates, postal/delivery workers, teachers, sanitation workers, military servicemen and women, scientists, and more!

PROJECT DETAILS

Your task this week is to create a work of art, a poem, a card, or a poster thanking these essential Community Helpers for all that they are doing to keep us and our island community safe. Feel free to make as many as you'd like!

Once you have completed your project, please submit high quality images to the Education Department. Pictures can be of the student with their work, or just of the thank you. We will be sharing our gratitude to these Community Helpers through social media posts and The Toadrock Times!
